Creative Therapy Consultants
Neonatal Touch & Massage Certification

NTMC® Updated Reference List

Karawaitzman@infantdriven.com
855-CTC-NTMC
NTMC Categorized Reference List

Table of Contents

- Brain Structure and Function ................................................................. 1
- Developmental ......................................................................................... 4
- Hospital Environment ............................................................................... 12
- Manual Therapy ....................................................................................... 14
- Massage and Oil ....................................................................................... 15
- Maternal Involvement .............................................................................. 23
- Neuro-Development/Sensory System/Limbic System/Stress & Trauma .... 25
- Non-pharmacological Interventions ....................................................... 27
- Oral Feeding ............................................................................................. 28
- Outcomes .................................................................................................. 30
- Pain .......................................................................................................... 32
- Parents/Families ....................................................................................... 34
- Positioning and Handling ......................................................................... 37
- Safe Sleep .................................................................................................. 42
- Sound Exposure ....................................................................................... 43
- Skin-to-Skin ............................................................................................. 44
- Stress ........................................................................................................ 47
- Swaddled Bathing ..................................................................................... 48
- Tactile-Kinesthetic Stimulation ................................................................. 49
- Teamwork ................................................................................................ 51
NTMC References

Brain Structure and Function

Developmental

Hospital Environment

Manual Therapy

Massage and Oil

Maternal Involvement

Neuro-Development/Sensory System/Limbic System/Stress & Trauma

Dandle•LION Medical 22 Shelter Rock Lane Danbury, CT 06810 www.dandlelionmedical.com 203-791-9001

Non-pharmacological Interventions

Naughton, K. (2013). The combined use of sucrose and nonnutritive sucking for procedural pain in both term and preterm neonates an integrative review of the literature. Advances in Neonatal Care, 13(1), 9-19

Oral Feeding

Outcomes

Pain

Parents/Families

Positioning and Handling

Safe Sleep

Sound Exposure

Skin-to-Skin

Stress

Swaddled Bathing

Tactile-Kinesthetic Stimulation

White-Traut, R., Studer, T., Meleedy-Rey, P., Murray, P., Labovsky, S., & Kahn, J. (2002). Pulse rate and behavioral state correlates after auditory, tactile, visual, and vestibular intervention in drug-

Teamwork